This would represent a 3.2 per cent gain over the official 1950 Federal census which gave Alabama a population of 3,061,743. The 1940 Federal census, incidentally, showed Alabama with a 2,832,961 population. According to these estimates, 2.154,050 represents white population, and 1,005,600 nonwhites.
